REFACE

When I began thinking about the Calyx last Spring, everything seemed fairly easy. I knew what I wanted to do and how I wanted to do it. My idea was to analyze and present a memory, to recall four years in a book filled with color, imagination and perceptive thought. All sorts of sentimentalities and evocative pictures went through my mind, and I was becoming more enamored each day with my ideas.

But as deadlines, budgets, and different attitudes made a mess of my inspiration, I gradually realized the confusing problem that is really behind putting out a yearbook. Money and practical complications were there certainly, but when it comes to unifying a book the problem is communication, pure and simple; somehow I had to understand, evaluate, and present my personal thoughts effectively. I was tired of the usual style of emphasizing vague ideas and traditions, and determined to come up with an approach that would be different yet meaningful. So I began to consider various ways—sarcasm, humor, art variation, criticism—but the more I thought the more I began to know that my thoughts were turning back to the past and the tradition that created education at Washington and Lee. My memories began there, I was sure of it, despite the almost hopeless effort to lift them from triteness and place them in the context of a society whose traditions and ideals seemed to be toppling with incredible ease.

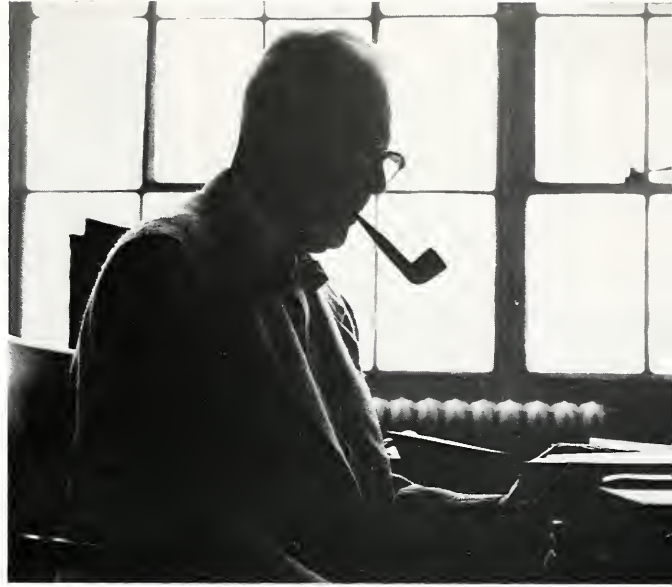

So this became my purpose—to find a real meaning in tradition. And this I believe is the dilemma that has always confronted an institution founded on the concept of Liberal Education, the problem of shaping an ideal for reality. Though possibly more intense now, the conflict has always been there and has constantly created tradition. Perhaps tradition as we know it now is becoming too faint to be effective, perhaps the old attitudes are exhausted and the years to come will demand a more specialized, more concentrated answer. But attitudes have changed violently before, and the past has had its answers; during the disillusion of the nineteenth century, John Henry Newman was to assert proudly in his Idea of A University that the goal of Liberal Education was the gentleman, the man who “apprehends the great outlines of knowledge, the principles on which it rests . . . its lights and its shades.” This is the answer that has come before, and which Washington and Lee must continue to give.

EDICATION

"He was a man, take him for all in all,

1984 I shall not look upon his like again."

—Hamlet, I, ii, 187-8

No one who ever studied under Dr. Fitzgerald Flournoy is likely to forget him. For nearly four decades at his alma mater, where he returned after a brilliant record at Oxford as a Rhodes scholar, he was one of the most familiar figures on campus and one of the Washington and Lee professors for whose courses—covering the astonishing range of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Milton, Elizabethan and modern drama, the English novel, and Romantic poetry—there was great demand. To hundreds of students he made literature come alive for the first time, and in hundreds more he stimulated an appreciation and understanding they had never enjoyed before.

Though his classes were intellectually exciting, it was not intellectual excitement that made them memorable. Nor was it precisely what he said that one remembered longest. It was rather that one felt in the presence of a deeply human man, a man who knew life firsthand as well as through books, a man who passionately loved the subjects he taught and who felt in every fiber of his being the poetry he read, a man who talked in so interesting a manner and who laughed with such enthusiasm that merely to sit in his class was a pleasure not to be missed. He was of the old school of dedicated teachers, and he was a very great member of that select group. To him teaching was, quite simply, a way of life. But he never thought that teaching could be divorced from life any more than literature could, and the secret of his uniqueness was that he succeeded in fusing the three.

He was a simple man, a modest man, a man perennially young. There was never in him a trace of the false, the artificial, the pretentious. He unaffectedly found pleasure in mystery stories as well as in Shakespeare, and his sheer exuberance and vitality could transform the dullest sounding work into something pleasurable. He was above pettiness and incapable of malice, and toward his students he had the kind of humility that made them think they were teaching him as much as he was teaching them. He had a young man's love for the writers that youth always finds appealing—for poets like Shelley and Poe—and he had a young man's thirst for new knowledge. One of the last summers of his life was spent in studying the Theater of the Absurd and the plays of Tennessee Williams so that, as he put it, he would be able to teach what "my boys are reading."

We will always remember that familiar, lumbering, Johnson-like figure, that magnificent voice whose power could not be contained within the walls of Payne 21, that massive index finger drawing an imaginary picture in the air, that irresistibly contagious laugh, that Falstaffian zest for life. And it is to that memory of him that we affectionately dedicate this 1964 CALYX.

—DR. S. M. B. COULLING

In Memoriam

DR. FRANCIS PENDLETON GAINES

April 21, 1892—December 31, 1963

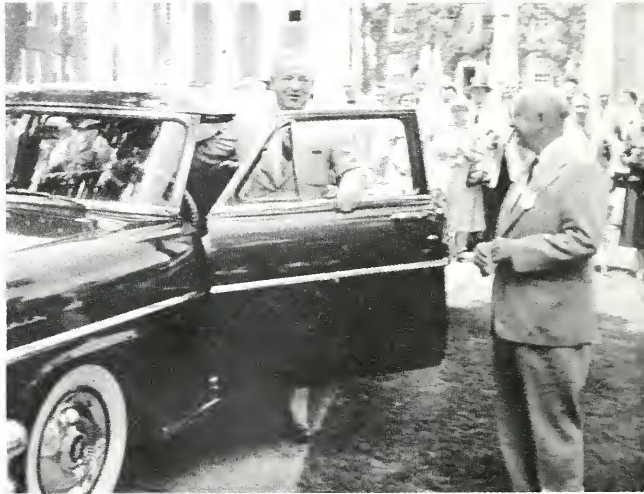

When Francis Pendleton Gaines accepted the presidency of Washington and Lee in the fall of 1930, he told a Lee Chapel inaugural assembly, "To think of this university is to believe in an ideal. To think of this ideal is to believe that still it has power. Its power is to deposit in the life of a boy something a little finer than culture, a little rarer than competence, a little nobler than success; to quicken a dream in the young brain . . . to furnish young personalities with potency and poise."

For the rest of his life, as president of the University for 29 years and as Chancellor for four years, he served the interests of Washington and Lee, of its faculty and its student body, with a fervor and sense of responsibility unparalleled in Southern education. He left an imprint upon his acquaintances and associates, from the most insignificant member of the student body to men of high national importance, difficult to define, impossible to appreciate adequately. Somehow in his vision of Washington and Lee, of its purposes and objectives, he spanned in his actions and duties the interminable gap between the University's remarkable heritage and tradition and its responsibility and position in the contemporary academic world. He moved the University forward, financially, intellectually, morally and spiritually, creating for Washington and Lee an image of excellence, of integrity and of leadership recognized throughout the United States. "Wherever Francis Gaines appears as a statesman for Virginia," wrote Dr. Douglas Southall Freeman, the eminent biographer of Lee, "there is new honor for the commonwealth."

The same tribute can be applied to Dr. Gaines's contribution to Washington and Lee. We are poorer for his passing, but far the richer for his living.

Dr. Gaines shortly after he became president of Washington and Lee.

The president receives a gift of gratitude for 25 years of leadership.

With his wife in the garden of their country home.

ACADEMIC HERITAGE

"For more than two hundred years the main stream of man's advance has moved towards knowing himself and the world, seeing things as they are, spontaneity of consciousness . . . This we can only get by going back upon the actual instincts and forces which rule our life, seeing them as they really are, connecting them with other instincts and forces, and enlarging our whole view and rule of life."
...Matthew Arnold, Culture and Anarchy

*"In the deserts of the heart
Let the healing fountain start,
In the prison of his days
Teach the free man how to praise."*

Dr. Fred Carrington Cole

To the Class of 1964:

My associates and I congratulate you most sincerely as you become Alumni of Washington and Lee. You are joining a worthy fellowship of dedicated men. We are certain that you will bring additional honor and renown to this distinguished body.

It is our hope that you have profited much from your years on campus; surely you have made the University a finer place than when you came. We believe that you have had instilled in you a tradition of service, that your ambitions for personal success and happiness have been balanced with concern for others, and that you will carry with you an understanding of the glorious past of your alma mater and a clear vision of its great future. You are an important part of this past and of this future. Those of us who will remain on campus will watch with confidence and pleasure your significant contributions to your country and to your society.

May the memories that are recalled by this book bind you ever more closely to each other and to your University.

Respectfully yours,
Fred C. Cole

*A little learning is a dangerous thing;
Drink deep, or taste not the Pierian spring;
There shallow draughts intoxicate the brain,
And drinking largely sobers us again.*

*What youth deemed crystal, age finds out was dew,
Morn set a-sparkle, but which noon quick dried,
While youth bent gazing at its red and blue
Supposed perennial,—never dreamed the sun,
Which kindled the display, would quench it too.*

BOOK II

ATHLETICS AND ORGANIZATIONS

The same civilizations which produced some of our highest achievements of philosophy and drama, government and art, also gave us a belief in the importance of physical soundness . . . from the 'mens sana in corpore sano' of the Romans to the British belief that the playing fields at Eton brought victory on the battlefields of Europe. This knowledge . . . that the physical well-being of the citizen is an important foundation . . . of all the activities of the nation, is as old as western civilization itself.

—John F. Kennedy

ORGANIZATIONS

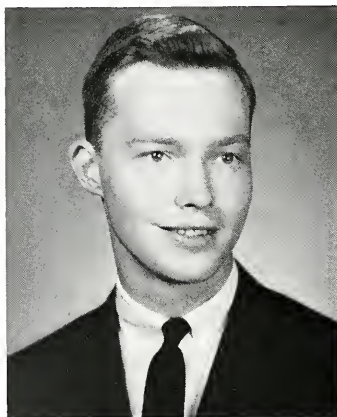

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

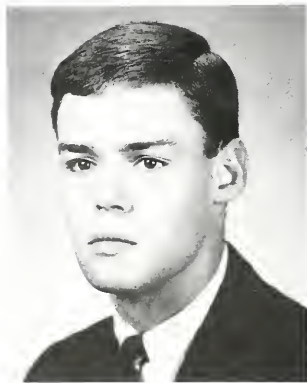

A true Student Government—one that leaves the executive, legislative, and judicial functions in the hands of the Student Body to the fullest possible extent—exists at Washington and Lee, because we wish to be governed in that way, and because the majority of students have shown themselves both capable and desirous of accepting the responsibilities inherent in that privilege. Certainly, a reasonable degree of student autonomy should be sought in a university dedicated to the proposition that education is restricted neither to the classroom, nor to the mastery of knowledge contained in books. We possess, indeed embrace, a governmental heritage, not common to many American universities—a heritage, which is ours to share, ours to maintain, and ours to pass on, strengthened by a demonstration of our un-failing belief in the worth of the principles which undergird it.

The Executive Committee, controlling body of Student Government, has primary responsibility for all executive and legislative affairs, as well as sole jurisdiction of the Honor System. It appoints all standing committees, supervises the Publications and Dance Boards, and handles all other affairs of Student Government which may arise from time to time.

The President, Vice-President, and Secretary of the Committee are elected by the Student Body. The other members are selected by their respective classes.

The Assimilation Committee at Washington and Lee is an organization charged with the responsibility of maintaining certain of the university's important traditions—such as conventional dress and the speaking tradition. Its members are appointed annually by the Executive Committee and are chosen from those individuals who have applied in writing for a position. Paramount among the committee's aims is the gradual assimilation of students into the W&L way of life, so that their four years may be more rewarding and meaningful to both the students themselves and to the university.

STUDENT LIBRARY COMMITTEE

The Student Library Committee is chosen by the Executive Committee to maintain control of certain restricted areas of the University libraries. Its main function is to investigate offenders and set fines for those who violate the library rules in such areas as Locked Reserve Book removal, mutilation, or unauthorized removal of library property.

MEMBERS

Steve Parel, Chairman; Walter Bennett, Tim Dols, Wes Horn-er, Mel Lapes, Mike Levin, Tabor Novak.

COLD CHECK COMMITTEE

Taft, Baur, DeJarnette, Greene, Slay, Jung, Hartman, Kennedy.

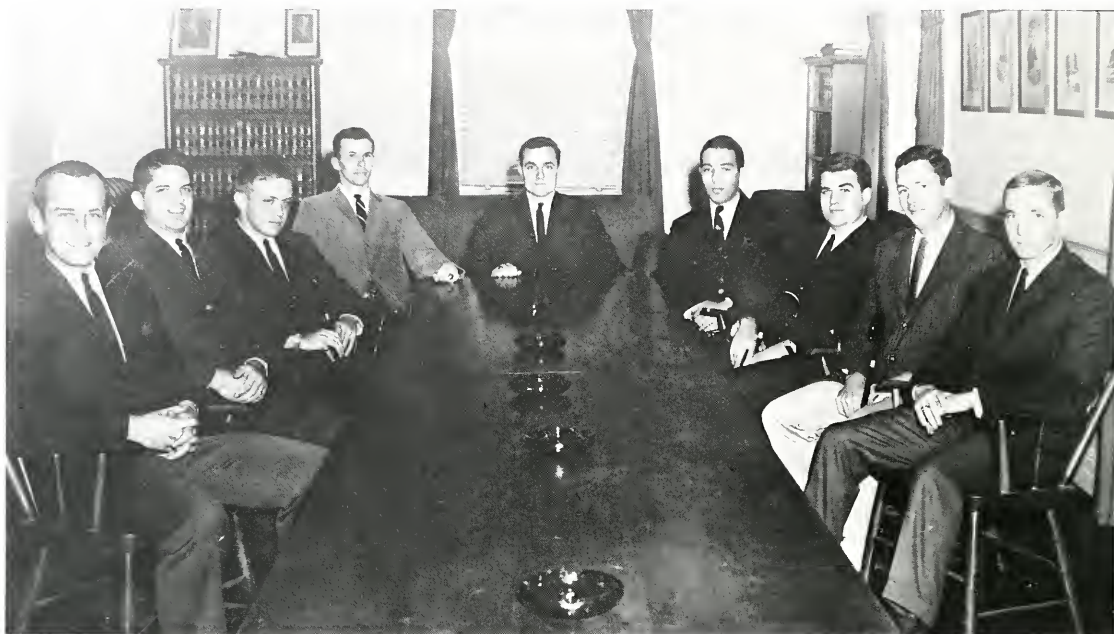

The Cold Check Committee is a nine-man organization selected each year by the Executive Committee. Its purpose is to maintain good relations between the student body and the town merchants, by ruling over infractions involving bad checks passed by any member of the student body. Meetings are held weekly, and offenders are dealt with accordingly.

The Southern Collegian is a humor magazine of non-political, non-partisan, distinctly Gallic, occasionally hydrocephalic nature, bound by strict rules of good taste and noticeably free from vice—popular in the extreme, colorful, politic, and meticulous, one that will do to swell an excess, start a scene or two; deferential, glad to be of use, full of high sentence but a bit obtuse, at times indeed almost ridiculous. Look for it only in archives, for it is a cultivation gone with the wind, its editor baking, brooding somewhere over the brown brink eastward springs, with big buns and with ah! bright wings . . . and the thing itself rises aldarwise by bowel-light, scrupulous and bent, moving its slow thighs toward Lexington to be born. Ah Psyche! to the regions which are holy land!

The Dance Board is designed primarily to organize and supervise the University's four major week ends: Openings, Fancy Dress, Spring Concerts, and Finals. The members of the Board are either appointed or elected by the Student Body at large. Membership includes the President of the Student Body, the four Dance Set presidents, and the presidents of the upper classes. In addition to its other activities, the Dance Board serves as the parent organization for the Dance Board Advisory Council and the Floor Committee.

DANCE BOARD

DANCE BOARD ADVISORY COUNCIL

The Dance Board Advisory Council serves as a representative group of the student body, whose function is to relate the student opinion to the Dance Board in seeing that the best entertainment possible is obtained. The Advisory Council also assists the Dance Board with the various duties involved in a dance weekend. The Vice-president of the Dance Board, Stephen Hibbard, is the chairman of the council. It is his job to see that student polls are conducted and that those results are recommended to the Dance Board. Members of the council are selected on their past experience and their willingness to help the Dance Board determine the entertainment that the student body desires.

The Housemanagers Association is comprised of treasurers and housemanagers from each fraternity on campus, and membership lasts for the tenure of the office in each house. The purpose of the Association is mainly to aid the housemanagers and treasurers in doing a more efficient job while they are in office. Another important function is to protect the houses by keeping a check on the monthly reports of the treasurers.

Besides singing for formal dinners, full concerts, and cocktail parties here and at surrounding girl's schools, the Sazeracs travel to Palm Beach, Florida, each spring for an annual week's engagement at the Taboo Club. They have also performed at private parties for the Prince and Princess of Austria, for Zsa Zsa Gabor, Dina Merrill and Princess Lee Radziwell, and have appeared in the Celebrity Room in Palm Beach to entertain at a reception for the American Ballet Company. A new Sazeracs recording, The Sazeracs Reproduce, will appear March 21.

Ranking alongside Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa, the "13" Club is designed to train its new men in the ability to distinguish between the worthwhile and the wasteful in college life. Thirteen members of the Junior Class are chosen each year for membership. Among the characteristics which the new members must demonstrate are those of self-denial, cultural refinement, extreme composure and intellectual curiosity. Perhaps because of its over particular interpretation of these, of what is worthwhile and wasteful, the "13" Club is very much misunderstood throughout the University. Nevertheless, the Club somehow survives to spread its message of Bacchanalian delight.

The Mongolian Minks is an esoteric organization with a history traceable to Alexander of Mesopotamia. After the demise of Alexander the group moved to an unknown location in Germany until the War of the Roses, when the Minks emerged in full strength on the British Isles, only to be forced into hiding once more by the leaders of the Puritan Revolt. Finally, after long and arduous travels, this group found worthy and permanent asylum on the campus of Washington and Lee University.

The activities of the Minks, which are so enigmatic as to border on the inscrutable, have often been misunderstood, and it is for this reason that this organization has been seen in the wrong light. For public purposes the function of the Mongolian Minks is to live life in a manner which will paradoxically merge the Dionysian and Byzantine heritage of the group in order that each individual may be most worthy to work for the general betterment of mankind.

FOOTBALL

Over the 1963 season the Washington and Lee Generals compiled a 5-3 record and captured second place in the College Athletic Conference. The three losses, one of which was questionable, were not truly indicative of the team's outstanding over-all performance. The competition was keener than in past years as the Generals met tougher opponents, especially in Susquehanna and Sewanee.

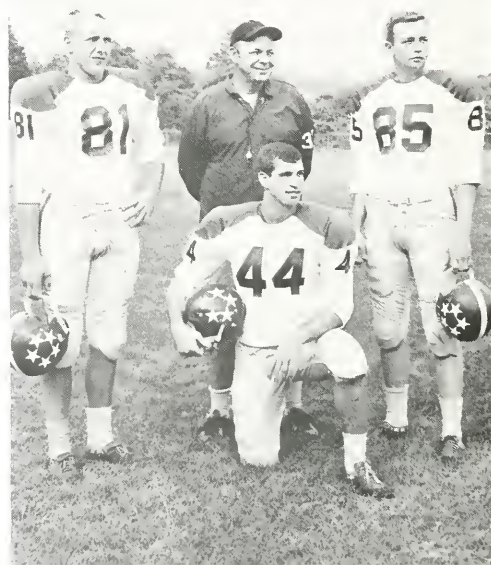

Unfortunately graduation will hit the team hard. Sixteen lettermen will leave, including all the members of the first team. So 1964 will probably be a rebuilding year, centered around 25 monogram winners and returning standouts like backs Bill David, Harry Brookby, Billy Andrews, John Anthony, Tom Crenshaw and linemen Joe Miller, Tersh Baker, and Bo Ernest.

Individually, though the Generals were always a complete team of three platoons, there were some fine performances. Seniors Henry Sackett and Stuart Yoffe were the outstanding rushers with Sackett leading the team with 633 yards gained, 46 points, six touchdowns, and a 6.3 rushing average. Yoffe and Bill David, whose pass reception total was the best in the conference, were close behind in scoring with six and four touchdowns respectively. Fullback Syd Butler, though often injured, was also an important component of the squad. Senior quarterbacks John McDaniel and A. J. Barranco provided both steady leadership and effective passing. McDaniel completed 9 of 19 for 236 yards and two touchdowns while Barranco connected on 23 of 46 for 248 yards and four touchdowns.

In the line, consistently fine performances turned in by Jim Sylvester, Mike Sheffey, Bill Gossman, John Madison, Mike Jenkins, Bob Henley, Buck Ogilvie, Steve Davenport and Bill Angel.

Another season, another beginning.

Sackett, Sylvester, and Ogilvie were named to both the All-Conference team and the Virginia Small College team, while Bill Gossman was honored by a place on the All-Conference first team. McDaniel and halfback David received Honorable Mention conference awards.

Hard traveling . . .

On September 28 the Generals opened their 1963 season by solidly defeating the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets 28-0, amassing a total of 254 offensive yards compared to the Jackets scant 128.

The first half was mainly a defensive contest, highlighted by Bill David's timely interception and the overall aggressive play of the Generals. All-Conference halfback, Stu Yoffe, who gained 83 yards for his afternoon's work, scored the only first half touchdown on a 13 yard smash over tackle.

The second half proved more spectacular, however, with several players showing their talents. Yoffe once more on a six-yard jaunt around end, and a few minutes later, Syd Butler, who also played a fine game, crossed the goal from the five. The final touchdown came on a pass from Barranco to David who also looked good on the several punt returns earlier in the half. Henry Sackett and Mike Jenkins handled the extra points, while punter Doug Davis had a fine 40 yard kicking average.

Come to papa.

The Stump set to pass

On October 5 the Generals played host to the Oberlin Yeoman and came away with a 29-13 victory. Strong defensive stands, hard running, and key passing were the factors which contributed to Washington and Lee's second victory in as many games.

Oberlin scored the first touchdown of the game in the second quarter. The Generals came back quickly to score with Syd Butler, whose 2-yard plunge plus the 2-point conversion by Henry Sackett gave the home team an 8-7 edge at half time.

In the second half, Washington and Lee picked up steam and scored 3 times, holding their opponents to only one touchdown. The action was dominated by Sackett, Butler, Harry Brookby, Stu Yoffe, Buck Ogilvie and John McDaniel. McDaniel threw two perfectly timed touchdown passes to Ogilvie, and Yoffe added the final score on an end run.

The extra yardage . . .

Sheffey sprints nimbly down the sidelines.

After a decisive 28-8 victory over Centre, the Generals journeyed to Selingsgrove, Pa., where they encountered the highly-touted Crusaders of Susquehanna. The Generals, hampered by injuries, couldn't get going against their larger opponents, and the game ended, 31-0. Fullback Syd Butler injured his knee early in the game and this, coupled with another leg injury suffered by Henry Sackett, hampered the Generals considerably. Our only bright spots before halftime were a screen-pass from John McDaniel to Stu Yoffe, which covered 40 yards, and McDaniel's end sweep for 35 yards. The Crusader's ground game was just too much, as they gained a 16-0 half-time advantage. The same situation prevailed in the second half. The home team scored twice more while holding the Generals scoreless.

A Parents' Day crowd of 4,000 watched W&L rout Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster, Pennsylvania. Embittered by a highly disputed loss to Hampden-Sydney, the Generals scored in each quarter and ground out 359 yards offensively. Fullback Dan Manson highlighted the initial W&L drive with a 41-yard sprint to the Diplomat 28-yard line. Three plays later, Sackett went around end for 14 yards and the first tally. The Generals suffered a serious loss when Manson injured his shoulder later in the game and was forced to sit out the remainder of the season. The hard-hitting Generals recovered a fumble and scored early in the second period when A. J. Baranco hit receiving specialist Billy David with a nine-yard scoring pass.

A 59-yard run by Sackett set up the third score as Syd Butler, sidelined for two weeks with a knee injury, came off the bench to cover the last 3 yards. The fourth score came as the Generals marched 59 yards in eleven plays, with Yoffe taking it over from eight yards out.

Yoffe picks his blockers and cuts upfield.

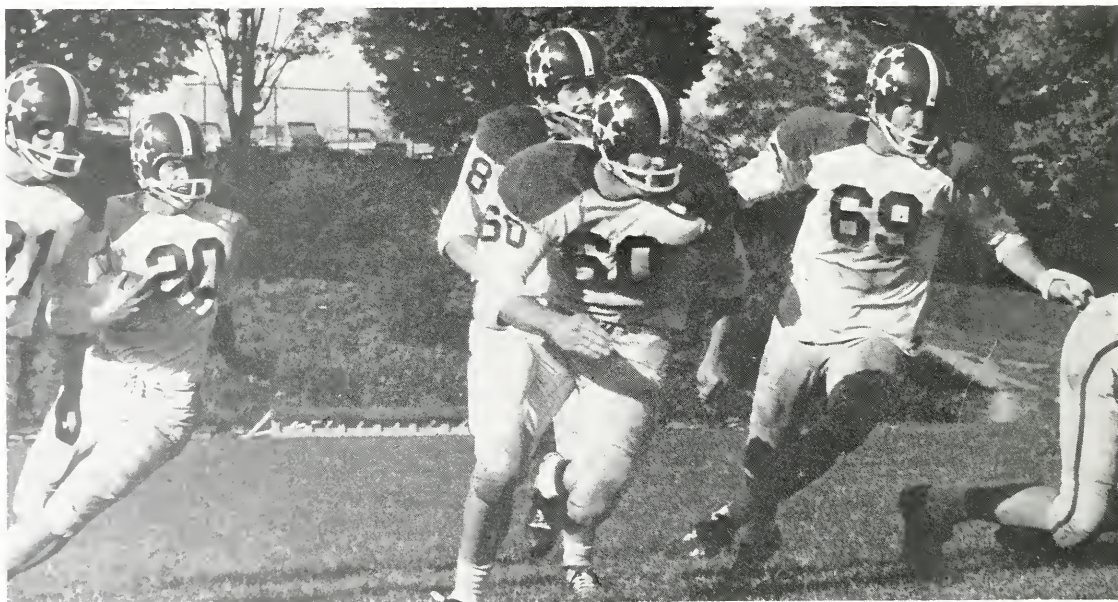

Butler, Madison, Sylvester, and Ogilvie make it tough for a Centre back.

After a much needed victory the previous week, the Washington and Lee Generals traveled south to encounter the powerful Purple Tigers of Sewanee. Long runs by Larry Majors and tailback M. L. Agnew continually surprised the Generals and ruined their hopes for retaining the conference crown.

Although the Generals did not score until the final period, the final totals were not indicative of the Blue and Gray's performance. The Tigers scored early in the first period, but it was not until the fourth quarter that they were able to score again and put the game out of reach.

The Generals' only touchdown came in the last quarter as Henry Sackett turned the end for six yards to cap a 79-yard drive. Individually, Yoffe and Sackett accounted for 58 and 56 yards rushing and Bill David caught seven passes for 53 yards.

Trouble in mind . . .

In what turned out to be the Generals last game, the Southwestern Lynx came to Lexington on Nov. 16. The Generals, displaying their varied offensive talent, won decisively in a well-played and exciting contest which featured the running of Henry Sackett and the passing of Lynx quarterback Bert Chafin. Doing all of their scoring in the first half, the Generals registered 8 points in the first quarter as Stu Yoffee broke off right tackle for the final 28 yards. Henry Sackett, who, turned in a great performance for the day, ran for the extra points. In the second period, the Blue and Gray crossed the goal four times. Syd

Butler broke through the center for 8 yards, and Bill David caught a 15-yard pass from A. J. Barranco, both good for touchdowns. The spectacular Sackett, who gained 117 yards for a 7-1 average on the afternoon, hit paydirt twice on runs of 2 and 59 yards. Quarterbacking was excellent with McDaniel completing one pass in as many attempts for 47 yards, and Barranco connecting on 3 of 3 tosses for 40 yards and 1 touchdown. Defensively, the entire unit turned in an outstanding effort with Joe Miller, Bill Gossman and Mike Sheffey the standouts.

The Generals finished another respectable soccer season with an over-all record of 7 wins and 5 losses. However, two of the losses were by a one-point margin as W&L bowed to Lynchburg U. twice by scores of 1-0. Coach Joe Lyles felt that the team played their best game of the season by coming from behind to beat veteran American U. team 2-1. Another sweet victory occurred on Parents' Day as the booters defeated King College 5-3 on Wilson Field before a crowd of 3,000. In the V.I.S.A., the Generals finished in fourth place losing heartbreakers to Lynchburg and Roanoke College.

Individually, Coach Lyles was highly complimentary of the performances of his co-captains, All-State goalie Tom Green and left wing Jim Mell. Both of these boys are graduating along with the team's high scorer Preben Berthelesen, who had a seasonal total of 11 goals. Next year, All-State halfback Bruce Jackson and All-State fullback Pete Preston will lead the team. They will be joined by several outstanding returnees from the 1963 squad; Dave Kirkpatrick, Wes Horner, Tim Henry, a high scorer and all-stater, and Steve Hibbard, who along with Henry led the team in assists. Bob Larus and Walt Briggs will be competing for the goalie position. These returning lettermen can look forward to a tough season in 1964 as Guilford College has been added to a schedule which otherwise has remained unchanged.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

Milam, Gambill, Coach Swan, Kendrick.

The 1963 freshman football team, under coaches Dana Swan, Bob Payne, and Raymond Raedy, posted the first winning season for the Light Brigade in a decade, compiling a 4-2 slate.

Against talented Woodberry Forest, the Baby Generals fell victims to their own mistakes and a superb performance by Woodberry's quarterback, Charlie Bradbury, and lost 28-0.

The following week, the Brigadiers took on a strong Staunton Military Academy team. Holding SMA to two first downs for the duration of the contest and exhibiting crushing defensive play, the freshmen won every aspect of the game, but again fell to their own errors, losing 12-0.

In an outstanding team effort and an about face from their first two performances, the Brigadiers downed Augusta Military Academy 19-0. The passing combination of Bryan Kendrick to Hank Hendrickson, and a fine performance from fullback John Bogart coupled with outstanding defense on the part of Bob Reading, Logan Bullitt, Hendrickson, Chuck Staples, and Steve McElhaney brought home the first victory of the season.

Parents' Weekend marked win number two for the Baby Generals as they bested the Bridgewater College J.V., 14-0, in a fumble-marred contest. Fullback Bogart scored on a quick trap, and Kendrick added the final tally on a quarterback sneak.

The Light Brigade journeyed to Randolph-Macon Academy to earn win number three as they defeated RMA 14-6. Phil Claxton and Bogart scored the two touchdowns, and Bob Reading added the extra points. Steve McElhaney, Skip Brooks, and Warren Stewart played leading roles in the General's defensive effort.

In their final game as freshmen, the Brigadiers coupled a stringent defense with an explosive offense for a 19-6 win over Hargrave Military Academy on Wilson Field.

On the first offense series, Bogart went through a hole over right guard and went 30 yards for the score. Phil Claxton returned an HMA punt 55 yards for the second score; and the Kendrick to Hendrickson passing combination clinched the final victory.

CROSS COUNTRY

Washington & Lee's cross country team finished a highly successful 1963 season with a record of 6 wins and 1 loss. Coach Dick Miller's squad featured both balance and depth which accounted for the improvement over the past year's record. However, the Generals placed 5th in the state meet as the competition from the larger schools, such as U.Va. and V.P.I., proved too much.

During the regular season, the "harriers" lost only to Old Dominion. They handily defeated the remainder of their opponents which included Roanoke College, Lynchburg, Bridgewater, Catholic U., and American U.

With all 10 lettermen returning, W&L's cross country future looks bright. The team had good leadership in 1963 under Captain Andy Kilpatrick and can look forward to more in 1964 under co-captains Kilpatrick and Rif O'Connor. Clyde Fosher, Lee Johnson, Ed Wood, Bill Wildrick, and Gene Hatfield will provide the balance and depth in 1964.

In the last meet of the season graduating senior Charlie Head set a new school record of 20 minutes 10 seconds for the 4½-mile course beating Mike Shank's old record by 10 seconds. The Forest Fletcher Cross Country Trophy this year went to Andy Kilpatrick as recognition for his fine leadership and performance.

RIFLE TEAM

The Washington and Lee Rifle Team fired eleven matches during the 1963-64 season which included both shoulder and postal matches fired by the varsity and freshman teams. Much improved over last year, the team average for the season was better than .400 in a league filled with highly skilled opponents.

Under the direction of first year coach Sgt. James McSheffrey, the team, composed largely of sophomores, was primarily interested in gaining experience and in rebuilding for the future. In spite of losing its two top marksmen, who graduated last year, two first year men, Bill Young and Ben Jones did a fine job to fill the gap.

Led by captain Dick Coplan, Harold Klick, Rick Mynttinen, and Jones, who was team champion and winner of the National Rifle Association Silver Medal, with a season match average of 277 out of a possible 300, the varsity's meets were characterized by extremely close scores. Firing against William and Mary the varsity found itself in an unusual tie, as each team shot a score of 1356. That same week Georgetown University traveled to Lexington for a close victory, shooting a 1361 as opposed to W and L's 1360. In the final match of the season, the team fired a school record of 1381 only to be nosed out by VMI's Air Force Team, which fired a 1383. In this match former freshman captain David Head set another school record by firing a 97 out of a possible 100 in the kneeling position.

INTRAMURALS

Under the direction of Coach Buck Leslie and Wyatt Durette, Washington & Lee operates a campus-wide intramural program which consists of eighteen teams from the respective fraternities, a team from the N.F.U., and one from the Law School. Teams receive points from their athletic contests as well as from the number of members and lettermen they have on the inter-collegiate athletic teams.

As of November 5, and the completion of the fall sports, the Phi Kaps lead with 588 points, followed by Beta with 499 and S.A.E. with 480. The Phi Kaps took both the cross-country and swimming crowns. Football and Tennis were taken by strong teams from Beta; while the Phi Delt's won the golf title.

The winter sports program is still underway. The Betas, Delt's, KA's, and PiKA's are tied for the handball championship. The S.A.E.'s and the Sigma Nu's are leading in basketball while the Delt's and KA's are dominating the wrestling. With the scores and team totals as close as they are, the last half of the year should provide many exciting contests.

The 1963-64 swimming team, under Coach Norris Eastman, managed to break even against the toughest schedule of opponents in Washington and Lee history. Over-all depth seemed to be the key as the team, led by captains Walt McManus and Jim Wallenstein, won crucial victories over Loyola of Baltimore, Wake Forest, and West Virginia.

The season saw five University records fall. The 400-yard medley relay team, composed of Bill "Andy" Broadus, John Lifter, Bill Wildrick, and Bart Taylor, set a new record of 3:45.6. Broadus also broke the 200-yard backstroke record with a time of 2:15.5. Wildrick, a freshman sensation, broke the 200-yard butterfly and 500-yard freestyle marks with times of 2:09.1 and 5:46.9 respectively. He also swam on the outstanding 400-yard freestyle relay team—composed of Gary Bokinsky, Steve Lester, Wildrick, and Taylor—which set a new record of 3:20.3.

Taylor was by far the high-point man on the team with 56 points. Wallenstein was second with 44 points, accumulating all his points in one event, the 200-yard breaststroke. Others contributing forty points or over were Broadaddus with 43, McManus and Wildrick with 41, and Skip Chase with 40. Chase switched from breaststroke to freestyle during the season and was soon starring in his new position. He and Broadaddus will be captains next year.

Besides the record-breakers and high-point men, three swimmers, Steve Lunde, John Wolfe, and George Bokinsky were also outstanding. Also diver Dave Geer showed great potential. Although the loss of McManus, Wallenstein, and diver Bruce Houghton will be felt, look for more upsets of the swimming powers next year.

Winning success continued to come hard for the basketball team during the 1963-64 season. The Generals, under the leadership of coach Robert McHenry and captain Louie Paterno, were hampered throughout the season by untimely injuries and loss of key personnel. The squad was young with only two seniors but much experience was gained and several outstanding performances were registered.

Offensively the team was led by Louie Paterno who had a fine 19.9 scoring average. The steady junior guard was an excellent floor leader and could always be counted on to come through under pressure. He was backed by promising sophomore forwards Fred Mindel and Steve Sweitzer, both of who showed great improvement as the season progressed. Junior Dick Livingston was a strong rebounder and often came off the bench to lend needed assistance, while senior Howie Martin, injured early in the season, played excellently during the last four games. Also freshmen Tom Cox and Jeff Twardy gave hint to promising careers.

Overall, the Generals won four games while losing thirteen, including the loss to Centre in the College Athletic Conference Tournament. However, except for a few instances, the team always gave a good account of itself, and constantly pushed its taller, more experienced opponents.

Coach McHenry with captain Louis Paterno.

Paterno in for the basket against Bridgewater.

The Generals' first win came over a tough Bridgewater team early in the season. W&L led the entire game and with a balanced attack held on to a 66-62 victory. In this contest guard Paterno's 22 points were high for the Generals. He was followed by Spessard and Mindel with 12 and 11 points respectively. Game number three provided the second victory as W&L came from behind at the half to beat Lynchburg 58-54. Livingston came off the bench to score 8 points and sink the go-ahead foul shots while Paterno again led the team with 16 points.

Following a loss to Centre, the Generals played host to a strong Catholic University quint at Lexington. Down by 18 points at the half, W&L fought back only to bow by a score of 79-71. Guard Paterno shined again as he hit for 33 points. The next contest was at home with Pennsylvania Military College. In their easiest victory, the Generals led all the way to a 75-48 win. Four players, led by Spessard's 16 points, hit double figures.

At the middle of the season, highly rated Old Dominion came to Lexington. Although they lost, the Generals played fine basketball and led most of the way. Brilliant junior Paterno was again outstanding as he hit for 31 points.

The last home game of the season saw the team play host to Richmond Professional Institute who had bested the Generals earlier. However, this time, in a fine team effort, the fired-up home team produced its most impressive victory, winning 86-61. Paterno was again the leader as he came close to breaking the floor record with 36 points.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The freshman basketball team had a successful 1963-64 season. Despite the loss of two starters at mid-semester, the frosh accumulated a nine win, three loss record, one of the best recorded by any freshman basketball team at Washington and Lee.

Under the leadership of Coach Joe Lyles, the frosh won over Bridgewater, Lynchburg, Fishburne Military, Augusta Military, and Virginia Episcopal School. The only losses were to a strong Greenbriar team, and the Military League Champs, Staunton.

Leading the "Baby Generals" offensively was Frank Morrison with a 17-point scoring average. Morrison was backed by the rebounding and timely scoring of Dave Ogilvy, 6'5" co-captain, and Roy Powell. Mike Saunders, floor leader, and Mark Winston, co-captain, led the team from backcourt. Time and again, the reserves came off the bench to preserve victory. They were led by Pete Heumann, Frank Jones, Bob Lohman, Bill Grant, Mac Holliday, and Terry Herman.

Coach Lyles stated that the success of the team was a result of a concerted team effort. There was no one player on whom the team depended on and when one did not deliver, four others took up the slack.

Coach Miller and captain Herbie Smith.

Though hampered by injuries, the Washington and Lee wrestling team compiled a respectable 6-5-1 record, marked by impressive victories and narrow defeats. The Generals shut out two opponents, while bowing to arch rival Virginia and tough Franklin and Marshall by close margins.

As usual, some fine individual performances were recorded, supported by overall team balance. Freshman Dick Musick, in the 130 lb. class, and junior Peter Winfield, who wrestled in a number of weight divisions, led the team with 9-2-1 and 8-3 records. Close behind were team captain Herb Smith, with a 7-5 mark, much improved sophomore Kemble White, with a 5-3 record, and hustling Butch West with a 5-2-1 mark. Another freshman, Warren Stewart, showed great promise at heavy-weight but was handicapped, as was Smith, by lack of size. Stewart and Musick each had 5 pins to lead the team in that department.

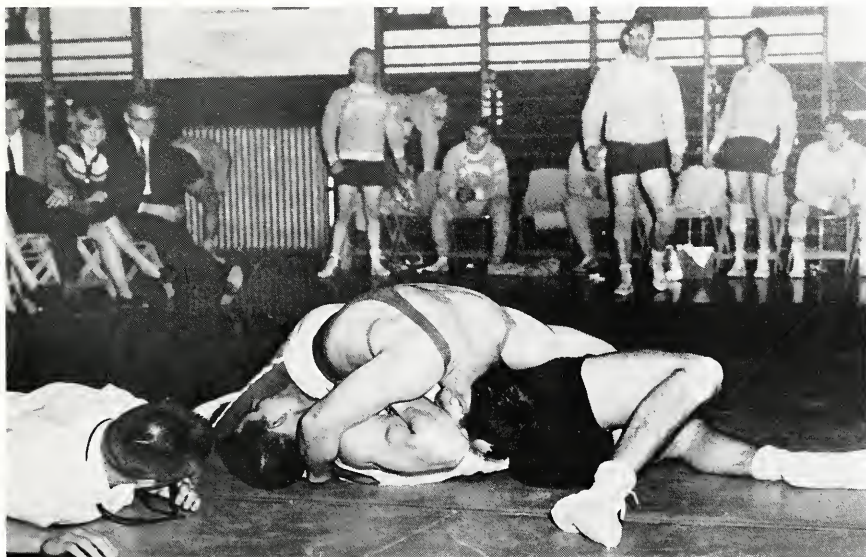

Two serious losses were suffered as Tom Stover, outstanding last year, and Ed Jansen were injured in mid-season. However, Jamie Andrew and Dick Deasener filled in admirably.

Next year, with all the starters returning except Smith, W and L fans can look forward to another successful season.

Goalie Pete Noonan with a nice save.

Playing in a new lacrosse conference and led by captains Danny Reed and "Dutch" Van Rensaleer, the W&L lacrosse team finished in 3rd place with a 2-2 league record. On a bleak day in Baltimore, W and L won its first game, a close decision against Towson State Teachers, 8-7. The other victory in league play was a decisive 9-3 win over Duke on Springs weekend. Aside from a pre-season victory over Swarthmore, the only other bright day for the Generals was a hard-fought win over North Carolina 9-7.

The lacrosse team was led offensively by Honorable Mention All-American attackman Carroll Klingelhofer, high scoring crease attackman Randy Wooton, and stand-out midfielder John McDaniel. In the ground ball department, an integral part of lacrosse, Midfielders Pat Robertson, Jay Bowersox, and Bruce Jackson led the club. The defense was led by co-captain Bob Van Rensaleer, Bill Gossman, and fast improving goalie Pete Noonan.

Although the Generals had a disappointing 3-7 record in 1963, they are looking forward to a more-experienced and mature team in 1964. The captains-elect for the upcoming season are midfielders John McDaniel and Syd Butler who will lead a strong returning nucleus and many promising sophomores.

GOLF

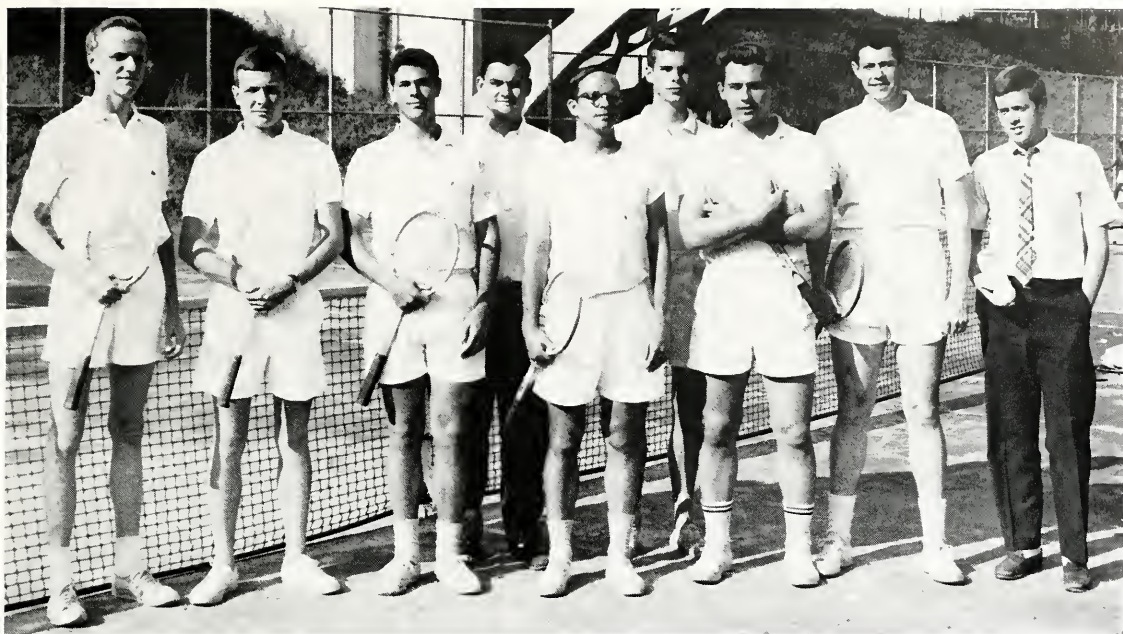

Under the direction of Coach Cy Twombly, the 1963 Washington and Lee golf team finished with a fair record of four wins, three losses, and one tie. Victories were gained over Old Dominion, Bridgewater, Georgetown and the University of Pittsburgh. In the College Athletic Conference Tournament, the golfers finished a close second, only two strokes off the winning score.

Generally, last year's squad was young and inexperienced, with the exception of this year's captain Bill Wyly and senior Paul McBride. However, Bob Duckwall, who won the trophy as the outstanding golfer, sophomore Dave Carroll and freshman Ed Crosland all showed consistent promise and should be much improved this year.

With the 1964 season, Coach Twombly is anticipating a better overall performance. He expects greater team balance, general improvement of those returning, and aid from incoming freshmen.

DeYoung, Baker (capt.), Short, Jones, Mills, Dickinson, Busse, Webb, Tyler.

TENNIS

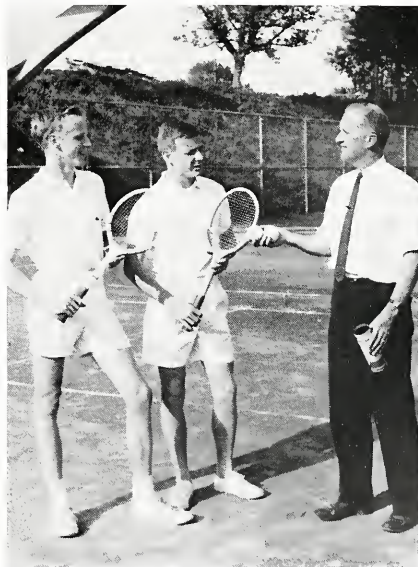

The year 1963 proved to be another winning season for the Washington and Lee tennis team. With a 6-3 record Coach Washburn was again pleased with the performance of his young team.

Jim DeYoung, next year's captain, played the number one position and was an inspiration throughout the entire season. Teaming with number three man Randy Jones, DeYoung also sparked the number one doubles team.

Last Spring in the CAC tournament, the Generals finished with third place and a very creditable performance. Captain John Baker captured the number two singles and then teamed with Lindsey Short to win the number two doubles, bringing the Generals their two gold medals.

Next year the team will have seven returning lettermen with one senior, five juniors and one sophomore. Coach Washburn says, "I am proud of the boys; with experience gained and returning lettermen, we should make a fine showing."

DeYoung, Baker, Mr. Washburn.

BASEBALL

Coach Lyles and Chuck Lane.

The W&L baseball team enjoyed a surprisingly successful rebound from the previous year's 2-12-1 record as it finished with 5 wins and 8 losses. The young starting squad including two seniors, two juniors, three sophomores, and one freshman demonstrated the best hitting seen on Smith Field in recent years. Senior captain Chuck Lane and freshman Eric Sisler led the team's hitting with averages of .309 and .364 respectively. Lou Flanagan and Bob Taylor also added timely plate punch. In the pitching department the load was carried by a meager staff of three starters and one reliever, including senior Brice Gamber and sophomores Mason McGowin, Chris Wigert, and Lou Paterno. Lefty Chris Wigert was outstanding as he won all five games and had an overall 5-3 record.

The season started typically as W&L lost to Connecticut, Elon, Camp Lejeune, East Carolina, and Old Dominion. The rest of the season however, was highlighted by victories over Vermont State Teachers College, two wins over R.P.I., and an upset victory over a strong Frederick College team.

The season closed with the C.A.C. tournament in which W&L finished second behind a talented Washington University squad. Chris Wigert picked up his fifth victory, and along with captain Lane and Eric Sisler, was selected to the All-CAC squad.

Next year's team has great expectations as the entire pitching staff, along with veteran infielders Lou Flanagan and Howard Martin and seasoned players Bob Taylor, Ashley Allen, Lou Paterno, Eric Sisler, and Dave Kirkpatrick will return. The squad will be led by co-captains Lou Flanagan and Brice Gamber.

State Meet 4th

Under Coaches Norm Lord and Lee MacLaughlin, Washington and Lee's track team enjoyed another winning season in 1963. Lead by co-captains Mickey Walker and Dave Monroe, the team achieved a 4 and 2 dual meet record while finishing 4th in the Virginia State Meet and 3rd in the first annual College Athletic Conference meet.

The CAC meet, held at W and L along with the CAC baseball, tennis and golf tournaments, was the highlight of the very successful athletic weekend. Also the Generals finished second in the Davidson Relays, ninth in the Colonial Relays, and fifteenth in the NCAA Regional.

Beside Walker, who excelled in the javelin, and Monroe, who was the outstanding shotputter, the team showed several other outstanding men. Skip Essex, one of next year's captains, was a standout in the 440 and 880 yard runs. In the sprints, the key man was Chris Kell, whose brother, Robin, was the top point maker. Robin, named "the outstanding track and field athlete" of the year, excelled in the high, broad and triple jumps, setting a school record in the latter. Henry Sackett also was valuable in the jumping events. In the distances Mac Brownlee, hard-pressed by Charlie Head, posted a new school record in the mile. David Britt and Hoss Pipes did an excellent job with the discus, while John Pearson did consistently well in the hurdles.

Next year, the team will be headed by tri-captains Skip Essex, Robin Kell and John Pearson. The team has lost only a few seniors, and with the addition of several outstanding freshmen, the coming season should be highly successful.

Up and over.

SOCIAL TRADITIONS

*... still speaking, the voice, the words as quiet as the twilight was 'Courage and honor and pride, and pity and love of justice and of liberty. They all touch the heart, and what the heart holds becomes truth, as far as we know truth.
Do you see now?'*

William Faulkner, The Bear

. . . we have an interval, and then our place knows us no more. Some spend this interval in listlessness, some in high passions, the wisest in . . . art and song. For our one chance lies in expanding that interval, in getting as many pulsations as possible into the given time. Great passions may give us this quickened sense of life, ecstasy of sorrow and love, the various forms of enthusiastic activity, disinterested or otherwise, which come naturally to most of us. Only be sure it is passion—that it does yield you this fruit of a quickened, multiplied consciousness.

Walter Pater, from Studies in the History of the Renaissance

In recent years, the Interfraternity council has not been one of the outstanding organizations on the Washington and Lee campus. Yet in the academic year of 1963-64, numerous changes were made, the results of which have made the IFC a highly respected and more functional body. The most significant change this year has been the adoption of a new and revised constitution in which a Judicial Board was established. This board, composed of the IFC officers, was designed to settle controversy arising over rush infractions, social functions, and other similar problems previously referred to the Faculty Committee on fraternities. The faculty and the 18 member fraternities of the IFC designed this board to place judicial power in the IFC itself, hoping that such a governing body will stabilize the fraternity system. A great amount of credit for originating the Judicial Board goes to Art Broadus, who has done an outstanding job as president. Without Broadus and Dean Atwood, many new developments leading to the new influence and respectability of the IFC could not have been accomplished.

Homecoming weekend each year is the scene of a football game, parties, and a selection of a queen for the weekend. Selection is made from the nominees of each of the eighteen fraternities and the non-fraternity students. The selection committee is annually headed by Dr. Shillington, who adds his own humor and color to the award. This year Dr. Shillington's selection committee included Dr. Turner, Dr. Stevenson, and Dr. Hayner.

Miss Carol Bruce, this year's choice, was crowned at half time of the football game on October 12. Carol a senior from Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri, was escorted by Jim DeYoung.

Mr. Syd Butler
Editor, CALYX

Lexington, Virginia

Dear Mr. Butler:

I am now sorry that Mr. Keller agreed to have me judge your Beauty Contest. If I had known how difficult it was going to be to pick one girl from such a bevy of beauties, I would have declined with thanks.

After much meditation I have chosen Miss Susan White as Queen, and the following as members of her Court:

1. Miss Susan Bronson
2. Miss Judy Hobson
3. Miss Charlotte Parker
4. Miss Virginia Russ
5. Miss Diane Peeler
6. Miss Nancy Mullins

I would like to point out, however, that it is rare that I have ever seen such a collection of clean, fresh young American beauties.

All my best wishes to the contestants and I would like to wish each and every one of them success and happiness.

Your friend,

Jerry Lewis

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest Greek-letter fraternity in the United States, is a national honorary fraternity which recognizes outstanding scholarship. Membership in this society has long been one of the highest academic distinctions attainable. Qualifications for membership are based on high scholarship, liberal culture, and good character. Each graduating class is considered by itself and each individual is judged on his merits, with election not being based on any fixed percentage of the class.

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary leadership fraternity, was founded at Washington and Lee University in 1914 by a small group of students. Among these founding students was Rupert N. Latture, former professor of political science. Today Omicron Delta Kappa has chapters at most of the leading universities and colleges in the nation. Guest speaker at this year's ODK Tap Ceremony was the late and beloved Dr. Francis P. Gaines, who was President of Washington and Lee University from 1930 through 1959.

PHI ETA SIGMA

Phi Eta Sigma is a national scholastic honorary fraternity, its purpose being to recognize freshmen who have shown proficiency in the field of scholarship. Each year, all freshmen who make an overall grade point ratio of 2.5 or better out of a possible 3.0 during their first semester at Washington & Lee are eligible for initiation. A banquet-initiation is held every February to honor the newly elected members.

WHO'S WHO

Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities is a national honorary society which honors both undergraduate seniors and graduate students who have shown outstanding leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities at their respective colleges. Those chosen for this organization are featured in a book, published every August, in which a brief autobiographical sketch of each member appears.

BETA GAMMA SIGMA

Beta Gamma Sigma is a national honor society which recognizes outstanding scholarship and accomplishment in the arts and sciences of business administration. Chapters are installed only in colleges and universities accredited by the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business. New members are elected by the active members from the senior candidates for degrees in commerce and administration, but no more than ten per cent of such candidates can be elected. Exceptional students may be elected from the junior class.

PSI CHI

Psi Chi, the national psychology honorary fraternity, has as its purpose the advancement of the science of psychology and the stimulation of research and scholarship among its members in all fields. In order to be eligible for membership, a student must have completed at least nine semester hours in psychology, placed in the upper third of his class in psychology, and have an overall average that places him in the top half of his class.

ALPHA EPSILON DELTA

Alpha Epsilon Delta is a national honorary pre-medical fraternity and finds its purpose in attempting to further the cause of the medical profession among men who have expressed the desire to go into that field. Members are selected from those pre-meds having at least a 1.8 average at the end of the first semester of their sophomore years.

COMMERCE FRATERNITY

The purpose of the Commerce Fraternity is to serve as a link between the students and the faculty of the school of Commerce, through which ideas may flow freely. The programs and activities of the Commerce Fraternity enable the student to see the theory which he has learned in a practical light by holding discussion groups and student-faculty debates. To speakers which highlighted the current year were Mr. Verbon Kemp, Executive Director of the Virginia Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Sumpter Priddy, Jr., Executive Director of the Virginia Retail Merchants Association. New members are elected to this group on the basis of a 1.5 average in commerce, economics, political science, and accounting courses, and on the vote of the present members.

EPILOGUE

*When you are old and gray and full of sleep,
And nodding by the fire, take down this book,
And slowly read; and dream of the soft look
Your eyes had once, and of their shadows deep.*

—W. B. YEATS

The pages that follow this short epilogue are to be taken simply. Their purpose is no more than to bring back a memory, to look back over the past four years and find something that could remain. They are not intended to be overly serious or critical, nor are they to be taken as a sentimental picture of times gone by. They are merely to be kept close and read if the scene in the poem above ever comes to be.

Assuredly we bring not innocence into the world; we bring impurity much rather; that which purifies us is trial, and trial is by what is contrary.—JOHN MILTON

The W&L gentleman. An interesting study. Just what and where is he, this product of the Old Southern tradition? Perhaps he is the black-robed boy who steps up to the podium, takes his diploma, and walks back to his chair and the world just a little beyond it. He is the boy who has had college and all its intricacies, the boy who has come before the altar of knowledge and gone away a man. He has felt the thrill of learning, felt the respect of tradition, he's walked slowly under the colonnade, run hard on the football field, talked long of the girls and the nights and the parties. And as he sits listening to the valedictory speech, he remembers these things and is proud. Is this the gentleman? Maybe, but I doubt it.

Maybe he is more, maybe he has to be more. It's a little sad, though, that often when the student gets out, he tends to think of college as part of his life rather than part of him. W&L becomes another alumni's memory, a sentimental tradition reflected bizarrely in the scowl of an old grad who comes back to see how the place of his college days has changed. So maybe this is what the gentleman really is—a created idealism that forms when one remembers not how things were but how they ought to have been.

But I would like to think not. I would like to think that though there is no real definition for the W&L gentleman, he exists implacably. Perhaps hard to find, but I believe he has to be there. He has to be there in the minds of the men that have made and been Washington & Lee—the chancellors, presidents, teachers, those who have loved and created this university. And hopefully he exists in the students, in those who can remember back and put it all together.

And this is where the ideal vanishes. For putting things together involves choice, and choice requires things to choose from. This is what college offers—a chance to see the outlines and develop a mind—and this is where there can be the gentleman. Not a filmy character set in a moonlight and magnolias tradition; just a man with an intelligent attitude. Without this, I suspect there is no gentleman, and without all the choice, I suspect there is no effective attitude. For intelligent thought seeks to allow and even extol the contradictions in life; its scope is completeness and its demand is distinction.

Perhaps this is too ideal, perhaps it is too much to hope that one can choose wisely from what is offered. Maybe there should be discipline, specialization, maybe the idea of a liberal education is useless today. If so, there is no gentleman, conceptually or really, and possibly no W&L as any of us have known it.

For years Washington & Lee has been a liberal arts institution and, for better or worse, still professes to be. In its own way it gives the student a chance to interpret his thoughts and hopes. It's just an institution, though, it's just there to be taken or left. So when the graduate leaves, he can make his four years a memory or he can think back to an attitude he found somewhere between Phi Beta Kappa and those nights at the Liquid.

But maybe Knowledge has gotten to big for us. Maybe ideals are really illusions of conscience, pathetic defenses against change and paradox; and while we hold them up we run under them with all our sarcasm and suavity. We become proud for seeing much of the stupidity and absurdity of our years here, and in concluding that there are no real answers, we give our answer in reaction. So trying stops and rationalization begins and we discard the notion that tradition, with the men and the effort and the past behind it, may just contain a hint for understanding.

Knowledge and tradition are no sacred cows, however, and they may become overly serious and distorted. Then we need change and criticism to remind us that passion, anger, cynicism, and humor are all parts of college, and that they are deceptively necessary.

There is nothing . . . too little for so little a creature as man. It is by studying little things that we attain the great art of having as little misery, and as much happiness, as possible.

—DR. SAMUEL JOHNSON

And the change comes in many forms, often subtle, sometimes violent. So we have bitterness and disillusionment within the school and within the most hallowed institutions of our nation, something happens and suddenly the men and the traditions are gone. Then we realize for a brief moment that the leaders and what they were have left us with a heritage, with an obligation that is deadly serious. This obligation lies far beyond social and political dissensions; it is simply a hope for the future, a hope . . .

fierce and ruthless not just to stay alive but ruthless with the fierce pride of liberty and freedom, jealous and proud enough of liberty and freedom to see it threatened not with fear nor even alarm but almost with joy . . .

—WILLIAM FAULKNER, The Bear

Somewhere near the first we spoke of the Washington & Lee gentleman. What followed was simply an effort to find him and make him live; and, in a more expanded sense, to present the ideals and the traditions behind them as the vital forces that have determined the attitudes of those who have graduated and those who will come.

Opportunities Like Edison had are WAITING FOR YOU

The inventions of Thomas Edison have affected the lives of people everywhere. They have created entire industries — ours, for example.

Under America's Free Enterprise system, inventive people like Edison can expect special compensations — profit, honor and satisfaction.

The hope of attaining such rewards has been one of our nation's greatest incentives to progress. It is a goal that prods imaginative minds in their quests for new products and methods.

Not everyone can be a Thomas Edison. However, every trained, dedicated graduate can anticipate a full measure of our society's rewards. All it takes is a willingness to work harder and contribute more.

A Memorable Year

Congratulations to the Student Body and Faculty of Washington and Lee University upon the completion of another outstanding year of accomplishments.

The Staff of your annual has worked exceedingly hard to give you a superb book that portrays the highlights of memorable activities. To preserve this excellent literary and photographic record, the best grades of material have been combined with skilled workmanship to provide the finest quality yearbook.

We are very proud that the 1964 Staff selected us to design, print and bind the CALYX. We have earnestly endeavored to fulfill the confidence placed in us.
